

Maintenance of Oiled Finish
Feathercraft
Klatwa Paddle

The paddle is finished with polymerized tung oil.
This oil gives wood a highly protective "hand-rubbed" finish.
Polymerized version of tung oil dries faster, cures harder and bonds better.

This finish must be maintained on a yearly basis with at least one coat of oil. If the wood has become rough, it can be lightly buffed smooth using a very fine sandpaper.

With the surface clean and dry, apply the oil with either a non-fuzzy cloth or brush. Allow the oil to penetrate. Wipe off any excess.

Without this simple protection, the paddle will not last as intended.

Polymerized tung oil can be found in hardware and furniture refinishing supply outlets.
